I watched the high school soccer team in thier scrimmage against the faculty last year. I know I am a teacher here, but it's wierd to root against students. In the first play of the game, Adrian earned his nickname of "bandit" because he acted like a professional theif and stole the ball from the teacher who was trying to recieve it. Adrian might have been jazzed up on a bit of caffiene because he made a record of ieghteen steals in the first half and niether of the teachers who played goalei could stop him. What an exciting finish to thier game; the Latin students acheived thier goal of winning!
